Everything Old is New Again

Every believer needs guidance in establishing their relationship with God and others. Living in communities of grace and truth enables believers to discover and define who they are and how they should live. That truth has been a vision and passion of Dawson Trotman, The Navigators and NavPress from day one. I recently found a film clip of Dawson that is as relevant today as it was when it was captured. I invite you to click on the link and watch. It 's worth your time.
